Blind Girl's Companion British Law Bars Dog,

Hazel Hurst, Who Appeared in Circleville Last Jan. 27 As Rotary Guest, Pleads for Use of "Seeing Eye" Pal

Miss Hazel Hurst, 22, of Oneonta, N. Y., a blind traveler who gave several lectures in Circleville last Jan. 27, may return to America because the British government refuses to admit "Babe", her seeing eye dog, without a six-month quarantine.

Miss Hurst arrived in London Monday on the liner American Merchant. She refused to leave the vessel without her German shepherd dog. "I am ready to go back to America if I can't take my dog ashore," she told officials.

The British ministry of agriculture announced that after "serious consideration" the dog could not be admitted without quarantine. The ministry requires dogs to be quarantined until it is apparent that they are healthy animals.

"We have every sympathy with Miss Hurst," an official said, "but we cannot deviate from the regulations. If we made an exception in her case it would be a loophole for others."

Miss Hurst spoke before the Rotary club and at the high school on her trip to Circleville. She related her travels with the dog as her guide, told of the dog's training and demonstrated the way the dog guides her.

A ward of Rotary clubs of the nation, Miss Hurst is given credit for obtaining use of railroads and other common carriers for "seeing eye" dogs. She is the only woman to ever appear as a speaker at an International Rotary gathering, having addressed the convention at Nice, Italy.

FOE OF F. D. R. BILLS APPROVED BY VIRGINIANS

Clark Wins in Missouri; Kansans Choose McGill; Revivalist Third

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Conservative North Virginia Democrats broke with the New Deal today as laggard precincts piled up a three-to-one primary election re-nomination for Rep. Howard W. Smith who voted against recovery-relief spending, the government reorganization bill and other Roosevelt measures.

Smith's re-nomination over William E. Dodd, Jr., avowed New Dealer, headlined yesterday's primaries in which four states voted. Kansas Republicans rejected the program of a so-called "Jayhawk-Nazi" in the next most significant returns.

Missouri Democrats renominated Sen. Bennett C. Clark, who sought endorsement after helping to scuttle the Roosevelt judiciary and government reorganization bills. Clark is the third consecutive Democratic senate foe of the judiciary bill to be re-nominated this year.

Pendergast Balked

Returns from a test-of-strength Missouri judicial contest indicated that Gov. Lloyd C. Stark had effectively challenged Boss Thomas J. Pendergast's authority in state affairs.

A fourth primary in West Virginia developed nothing of national interest. Smith's re-nomination and Clark's long foreseen triumph may be straws in the wind of 1940 when either state or both may send to the Democratic national convention delegations instructed against 100 percent New Deal candidates. Both Smith and Clark opposed Mr. Roosevelt on issues deemed by the New Deal to be vital.

Smith, member of the powerful house rules committee, voted often to block New Deal measures. He was among 40 representatives blacklisted by Labor's Non-Partisan League, the political arm of John L. Lewis' committee for Industrial Organization. Lewis is a voter in Smith's district which embraces manor houses of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, (Continued on Page Two)

U. S. SHIP ENDS HUNT FOR LOST HAWAII CLIPPER

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 3.—(UP)—The U. S. transport Meigs tonight abandoned the search for the Hawaii Clipper, which disappeared last Friday with 15 persons aboard while flying between Guam and Manila. The Meigs, carrying a large passenger list, started for Guam and the United States.

Officials said they did not expect army planes to continue the search. Navy vessels, however, will remain in the area for several days. More than 90,000 square miles of sea have been covered in the hunt.

It was disclosed that the oil found floating on the sea near the last reported position of the Clipper contained only small quantities of lubricating oil. Officials said it might be impossible to determine whether the oil was of a type used in the clipper.

World Fears Japan-Soviet "Powder Fuse"

JAPAN-SOVIET border warfare near the junction of the boundaries of Manchukuo, Russian Siberia and Japanese Korea has brought fear to the world of a Japanese-Soviet conflict. Both Soviet warplanes and Japanese bombers have come to grips across the Siberian border. Prince Kohohito Kanin, chief of the Japanese army general staff, cut short his vacation to hasten to Tokio for conferences with military leaders. Soviet officials say the Japanese have tried to gain hills of military value.

Workers Ask for Decisive Action Against Invaders Of Siberian Border

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Resentment against Japan reached a high pitch today at nation-wide meetings of workers who passed resolutions demanding decisive punishment of the Japanese for "border violations" in Siberia. An official communique said that further fighting on the Manchukuo frontier was inevitable. Russian resentment was exemplified in an editorial in Pravda, Communist party organ, which said:

"The Fascist birds of prey are grinding their knife to attack the Soviets. Our frontiers are the object of craving for the jackals and hyenas of Fascism, but our frontier guards of the Red army are vigilantly protecting the Soviet borders."

"The frantic Japanese militarists have carried out a new provocation, having invaded Soviet territory," the editorial continued. "This insolent aggression has caused deep indignation in the entire Soviet nation."

Typical of the resolutions passed by the workers was one at the aviation factory in Moscow. It said:

"We hope that in the future the Red army and fleet will continue crushing all attacks of any enemy. We ask the government not to leave without retaliation the provocations of Japanese militarists. "Let the Fascists feel on their (Continued on Page Two)

In the rural districts the report shows an increase of only 15 children when compared with 1937. The 1937 report showed 4,150 listed. Actual enrollment in the county system was 3,882 pupils in September, 3,836 in March.

Enumeration in the villages shows Ashville 327, New Holland 320, and Tarlton 60. Comparative figures for Circleville with last year are not available. A report for Circleville was

MANY BUSHEL CUT OFF 1938 WHEAT ESTIMATE

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Private crop experts surveyed the effects of rain, rust and early frost on the U. S. wheat crop today and forecast a total production of 936,000,000 bushels.

The figure was the average of estimates of H. C. Donovan, Nat. C. Murray, B. W. Snow, R. O. Cromwell, J. E. Bennett & Co., and Mrs. E. H. Miller.

It represents a reduction of 43,000,000 bushels from their average forecast one month ago. Disappointing threshing returns from Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma reduced the expected winter wheat yield by 38,000,000 bushels, while Spring wheat prospects suffered comparatively little during the month, the experts reported.

In a telegram to E. H. Maytag, company president, the executive committee offered to make the concession in an effort to reach a speedy settlement of the 13-week-old controversy.

Maytag or his son, Frederick II, a vice-president, were asked to meet the committee in an open conference in Des Moines at 2 p. m. to discuss the offer as a basis for settlement. "We are ready to concede in this matter, feeling that the main interest of both company and the union must be a speedy reconciliation and resumption of plant operations," the telegram said.

Washington Claims That Maps Show Hill Area Of Importance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Soviet and Japanese troops clashing in the vicinity of Changkufeng, on the Siberian-Manchukuo-Korean border, are fighting over something more important than merely a hill or series of hills on the border.

They are battling for possession of strategic ground which assumes the proportions of a mountain in the military and economic defenses of the two nations, it was revealed today in a study of new, detailed topographical maps of the area received in Washington.

The whole matter of military defense of both Japan and Siberia, and the economic domination of North-Eastern Asia is bound up in possession of the strategic hills rising out of swamp land border. (Continued on Page Two)

LIGHT CONTROL DECREED IN TOKYO

Infantry Attacks in Two Sectors Follow Artillery Bombardment of Japan's Lines; Europeans "Jittery"

BY UNITED PRESS

Unofficial border warfare between Russia and Japan in Far Eastern Siberia flamed into intensity today.

Many thousands of troops were involved. Russian artillery opened a bombardment of the Japanese lines after two infantry attacks in the disputed hill sector of the Vladivostok region.

Japan prepared for further Soviet air raids in the wake of previous bombings of Korea. Light control was ordered in Eastern Japan—even including the capital, Tokyo—and in Northern Korea.

Moscow announced that further border fighting is inevitable.

In Europe, the "jittery" condition still was evident. Mussolini announced an increase in Italy's armed forces, and France announced a strengthening of the army gendarmerie, considered the elite of the permanent military forces.

TOKYO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Emergency light control regulations were ordered in Eastern Japan, including Tokyo, and in all of Northern Korea today as fighting continued on the Siberian frontier.

In Tokyo, the regulations, which are effective tomorrow, will exempt street lights, traffic signals and lights necessary for work outdoors for the present.

In Northern Korea, however, strict regulations were imposed effective forthwith as a precaution against air raids, and inhabitants of Keiko, on the Korean frontier near the coast, began evacuating the city.

Regulations in Force

The rich Osaka industrial district and Fukuoka prefecture in southwestern Japan already were under light control regulations. Extension of the air defense precautions was ordered as a foreign office spokesman asserted that Russian artillery opened up a bombardment of the Japanese lines on the frontier this afternoon, following infantry attacks in two sectors this morning.

An official communique of the Japanese army in Korea, issued late today, gave perhaps the clearest picture of the sort of fighting that is taking place that has been issued during a week of clashes. It said that after attacking in the Changkufeng area this morning, the Russians suspended their "offensive" at 10 a. m. Russian infantry had advanced about 165 yards, the communique said, and retreated to a distance of about 1,100 yards from the Japanese positions at the end of the attack.

Defenses Erected

At present, the communique said, the Russians were erecting defenses.

Russian infantry which had occupied a hill 1 1/4 miles southeast of Changkufeng retreated for "some distance," it was added.

The communique said clouds over hung the Changkufeng area and that Russian airplanes could be heard but not seen. Gen. Kazushige Ugaki, foreign minister, visited Prince Fumimaro Konoye, the premier, late today for what the Domei news agency (Continued on Page Two)

McGill Kansas Winner

Sen. George McGill, New Dealer, won re-nomination easily in Kansas. But principal interest centered there on the losing race of the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod, radio revivalist, for Republican senatorial nomination. Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican national committee repudiated Winrod's campaign last month in protest against "intolerance" in racial and religious matters. Editor William Allen White, of Emporia, bluntly warned the party that if the revivalist were nominated Republicans would have to defend "the Nazi position."

Returns swamped Winrod who was in third position from the start with Former Governor Clyde M. Reed leading the pack for Republican nomination to the senate. Rep. William P. Lamberton, candidate for re-nomination in Kansas' 1st district, was blacklisted by the Committee for Industrial Organization. He was apparently re-nominated after a close race with James Kelsey.

Republican headquarters welcomed Kansas returns as national and state leaders feared a general bolt to McGill, if Winrod were nominated. But with some other candidate heading the state ticket they are hopeful of picking up a senate seat there in the general election. McGill is rated a fairly consistent New Dealer.

The New Deal issue in Virginia's 5th district was raised by the candidates and kept aloft by words or actions of Postmaster General James A. Farley and Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes. Farley gave Dodd a place of honor at recent ceremonies in Charlottesville, Va., and Ickes charged that Smith was trying to ride into office "on the coat tails of PWA." Northern Virginia voters followed the flags of their two senators, Carter Glass and Harry E. Byrd, both of whom have been sharply critical of the Roosevelt administration although neither intervened directly in this primary contest. Neither did Mr. Roosevelt but there were charges that Dodd's campaign against Smith was part of a "party purge." Smith won in each of the 15 counties and both of the two cities comprising the 8th district.

Smith's record in the 75th congress included the following votes: Against: Anti-lynching bill, $1,500,000 relief appropriation for 1938, income taxation of congressmen, 1939 recovery-relief appropriation, and the wage-hours bill. For: congressional investigation of sit-down strikes, repeal of corporation salary publicity, overriding veto of bill reducing interest rates on farm loans, $5,330,000 crop control bill, tax bill, recommit government reorganization bill, $212,000,000 appropriation for party payments on farm crops, to strike out the "third basket" tax on closely held holding corporations and the emergency naval construction bill.

INDIANA MENTOR GAINS VOTES IN ALL-STAR RACE

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(UP)—A flood of votes from Indiana moved A. N. (Bo) McMillin, head football coach at Indiana, back into the lead today in the voting to select a staff of coaches to handle the college All-stars against Washington's Redskins in Soldier field the night of Aug. 31.

McMillin, with 2,432,809 points, passed Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, who had a total of 2,336,805.

In third place was Harry Kipke, formerly of Michigan, with 2,139,702, then followed Raymond (Ducky) Pond of Yale with 2,178,519. A. J. Robertson of Bradley Tech., Peoria, Ill., 1,375,901, Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern, 1,375,568, Stub Allison of California, 1,371,888, and Bob Zupke, Illinois, with 858,764.

Voting ends Saturday night. The squad will report to the staff of five coaches on Aug. 12 at Northwestern university.

ing on Posselt bay, topographical experts declared.

The hills are only about six and a half miles from the strategically important railway running from the newly developed port of Rashin, just South of Posselt bay, to Kirin, and to other important points in northern Manchukuo.

Modern artillery pieces located on these hills have this important rail line easily within shelling distance.

The rail line is of great importance to Japan. It was built as part of Japan's economic plan for exploitation of Manchukuo.

It provides a "short haul" for military supplies to troops stationed in Northern Manchukuo and for transportation of the products of Manchukuo and the whole northeastern area of Asia for export to Japan.

Russian planes made 10 attacks on the Japanese frontier positions in the Changkufeng area Monday and Tuesday. On one raid, at 6 p. m. yesterday, he said, 60 planes bombed Keiko, on the Korean side of the border.

Two Russian planes were shot down and their pilots killed. It was possible, a spokesman added, that other Russian planes were downed.

The spokesman said that so far Japanese action had been entirely defensive and that no Russian territory was involved.

Japan, he said, still hoped for a peaceful settlement of the frontier situation.

As regards the airplane raids, he said, another protest would be sent to Moscow today.

Fifteen deaths have been attributed to the high temperatures since Sunday.

The California death list from the heat wave reached five. Ten died in Arizona.

BROOKLYN LOSES POINT IN FIGHT FOR SEA FLIER

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The Manhattan welcoming committee for the homecoming of Douglas Corrigan, "wrong-way" flyer of the Atlantic, scored a point over the rival Brooklyn committee today by "adopting" Corrigan's brother, Harry, and the latter's wife, who arrived from Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Corrigan came by plane to Newark airport where the Manhattan committee was waiting with open arms. They quickly were shuttled off the field, reportedly to a hideout in New York City.

This partial victory for the Manhattan committee was the latest highlight in a battle between the two groups which started a week ago. Both claim the right to welcome the Atlantic flier.

ALL NEEDY MUST RE-REGISTER TO STAY ON ROLLS

County relief employees were awaiting the arrival of blanks Wednesday for the registration of relief clients this month. Clients must furnish proof of need and eligibility.

The new registration will be the first step of William C. Dixon, new state relief director, after two weeks of investigation, to put the new state relief law into operation.

Relief cases will be closed as of a given date and those seeking relief will be required to make new applications, accompanied by a financial statement and affidavit.

Local agencies must complete this work by Sept. 1, Dixon instructed.

Dixon also emphasized that all able relief clients will be required to accept work offered them. As an example, he said that weed-cutting would provide work for many during the hay fever season.

The director urged centralization of relief administration under one agency in each county. Such centralization is optional, however, he said. The 12 percent limit on administrative expense makes unified operation desirable, he added.

Dixon proposed that subdivisions of metropolitan counties agree to let the largest city handle the relief administration job.

ANOTHER FUGITIVE FROM LONDON FARM CAPTURED

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The surrender of Edward Brown, 38, of Middletown, to police at Newport, Ky., today left only three fugitives of the six convicts who beat a guard and escaped from the London prison farm last Friday.

Brown walked into Newport police headquarters and told Lieut. James Fuller that he wanted to give himself up. He said he escaped with the others only because he was worried about the illness of his mother in Middletown.

KENTUCKY VOTE CAMPAIGN EYED BY U. S. SENATE

Expenditures, Committee to Increase Staff of Probers In Bitter Fight

RIGHTS ARE IN DANGER

Tennessee's Primary Draws Attention, Too; Winner May Be Challenged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—The senate campaign expenditures committee broadened its investigation of the Kentucky primary today and increased its staff of investigators. Conditions there, the committee charged, were such as to "imperil the right of the people to a free and unpolluted ballot."

Without mentioning names, the committee charged that the campaign forces of Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, who is backed by Roosevelt for the state's Democratic senatorial nomination, and his opponent, Gov. A. B. Chandler, were equally guilty of improper tactics.

Chairman Morris Sheppard, D., Tex., revealed that H. Ralph Burton, committee investigator, had employed "three or four" assistants to extend the investigation.

Sheppard said that the committee would be on hand for the primary balloting Saturday to watch for evidence of irregularities.

Others In Tennessee
Six other investigators will watch the Tennessee primary Thursday. A committee member described that campaign as "gutter politics" pointing toward an election contest before the senate.

The committee said the Kentucky investigation would be pushed "in order that the full facts may be developed and presented to the senate for its consideration and action."

This indicated, some observers believe, that the committee considered the Kentucky campaign was such that the right of the victor to a seat in the senate would be challenged in that body.

After hearing Burton's evidence, gathered over one-third of the state, the committee said it was "certain that organized efforts have been and are being made to control the vote of those on relief work, and that contributions have been sought and obtained from federal employees, in behalf of one of the senatorial candidates."

Chandler forces charged that Barkley's backers had sought the help of federal office holders, and asserted that the W. P. A. was working openly for the senator.

W. P. A. Administrator Harry L. Hopkins said the committee statement did not refer to W. P. A. officials. He said he was informed that it "was not directed at anyone connected with the W.P.A. but at persons entirely outside the W.P.A. who sought to get relief workers to vote for one candidate or the other."

Barkley's group accused the Chandler organization of causing the state old-age pension and unemployment insurance organizations to distribute payments in a manner calculated to air Chandler.

"It is equally certain," the committee said, "that state officials charged in part the distribution of federal funds for old-age assistance and for unemployment compensation have been required to contribute from their salaries and of their services in the interest of another candidate for the United States senate."

Both candidates, in answering committee questionnaires said they knew of no instances of coercion of voters, or collection of campaign funds by others in their behalf.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU

Stick-to-it-iveness, I believe, is somethin' that everyone admires in either a man or a postage stamp. I don't mean just bein' mule-headed but in ploddin' along, doin' whatever you've got your mind set to, in spite of obstacles and discouragements. You take my Uncle Scrib, for instance. He came back to Van Buren for the first time in ten years.

Grandpa said "Scrib did'ja follow out that boy-hood ambition of yours to become a writer?" and Scrib says "I sure did, Snazzy. I hung on and wrote for ten years before I found out I didn't have any talents for writin' good literature."

Granda said "And then you gave it up?" and Scrib said "No—by that time I was too famous to give up."

Ashville Council Plans for Health Board

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

At the Village Council meeting Monday evening the usual number of bills were paid. And other than this, so the Mayor told us, but little business was transacted. The question of a village health board was thrashed out through the village solicitor, Emmitt Crist, of the county seat. According to the law regulating health boards for districts outside cities, villages come under the "general district" class which is under control of the county board of health. The contention was that Ashville officials erred in not having a health officer under the appointment of the mayor. This seems to be not true.

The old cob, storage bin with a capacity of several hundred loads, is being torn away from the North side of the Ashville Grain Company building proper and will be replaced by a modern cement block building. With this structure and the recently built incinerator, the handling of cobs in whatever quantity, will be an easy job.

Bill Curry made another report to us about that much egg-laying hen of his. Said the record now shows 20 eggs in 22 days which, at this rate, means 330 eggs per year or near the 28 dozen figure, and at only 25 cents the dozen. Bill would be the gainer of $6 allowing one dollar for feed. After the first of the 1939 year these eggs will be sold at one dollar each for hatching purposes and cheap at that.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Leaping from three minor roles to the feminine lead of a picture is unusual, even for Hollywood, but Vicki Lester accomplishes this in RKO Radio's new comedy-drama, "This Marriage Business," which is showing tonight and Thursday on a double feature program at the Cliftona theatre.

The blonde starlet's work in the recent "Maid's Night Out," won her the assignment to the current role, and studio executives see a brilliant future for the former photographer's model.

Victor Moore is starred and Allan Lane plays opposite Miss Lester in this production by Cliff Reid. Christy Cabanne directed.

AT THE GRAND

Eric Linden, who plays the role of the millionaire's son in Universal's "Midnight Intruder," now playing at the Grand theatre, has two hobbies.

He collects miniature horses and he's learning to be a ventriloquist for his own amusement. His collection of tiny horses is one of the largest in the entire country and often has been loaned out as models to schools where sculpture is taught.

SAWYER ASKS THAT GOVERNOR DISCUSS ISSUES

Davey Dodges, Opponent Says In Demanding Outline Of Intentions

ADMINISTRATION RAPPED

Pertinent Questions Put to Executive by Cincinnati Candidate

NILES, Ohio, Aug. 5.—Charles Sawyer, who has confined his campaign until now to a discussion of the issues, turned on his primary opponent here to fire direct questions concerning the governor's record. It is believed that Sawyer will continue to ask direct questions throughout the balance of the campaign. Sawyer spoke here before an open air meeting. Challenging Davey to "come out in the open and discuss the real issues of the campaign," Sawyer said:

"You've had six weeks to defend your administration before the voters of Ohio. You have seen fit, on the radio and the public platform, to dodge the only real issues in this campaign. Are you running on your record of proved maladministration, or are you offering Ohio another set of false promises and false hopes?"

"What have you to say—indeed what can you say—about the indictments returned against eighteen people closely identified with you and your official family, officials who owe their appointments to you personally and directly?"

"What have you to say, what can you say, in defense of the excessive payments you allowed the state to make on hot mix contracts which caused the farmers and taxpayers millions of dollars and many fewer miles of good roads?"

"When are you going to tell the people of Ohio why you allowed your friends, the 'fixers' of your administration, to shake down every person who has tried to do business with the state since you have been governor—the material men, the coal miners, the distillers and brewers and every other business and its representative?"

"There are only a few score of these questions which the people want answers to before August 9th. In the interest of truth I will ask some of those questions myself every day from now on until the morning of primary day."

BURNS ADDS SISTER ACT

The night club sensation, little Joan Brodel, aged 13, and her big sister, Mary, 21, make their network radio debut on the Music Hall with Bob Burns Thursday, Aug. 4. The complete bill for the evening's entertainment over the NBC red network at 9 p. m. includes such regulars of K.M.H. as the Foursome, octarina specialists; John Scott Trotter and his orchestra; plus special guests—Walter Huston, poet Ogden Nash, and Joseph Bentonelli, of Metropolitan Opera Company fame.

The Brodel Sisters will have a chat with the keeper of the Hall, Robert Burns, who intends to talk them into doing one or two of their song specialties. A couple of years ago Joan played a little girl in Greta Garbo's "Camille", and now both sisters have featured parts in the Paramount production, "Men With Wings."

Before entering the movies the youthful pair appeared in night clubs throughout the United States and Canada. Joan and Mary got their start in vaudeville in Detroit, Michigan, their home town.

NEWS AND NOTES

Him Commentator George McCall was on hand recently when Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy placed their footprints in the sidewalk outside the Chinese Theatre. The event was recorded for the newsreels by Norman Alley, who photographed the bombing of the gunboat Panay—and admitted his current assignment was plenty dull.

Harry Owens, composer of "Sweet Lullaby," whose orchestra is heard via NBC from the Royal Palm Roof of the Biltmore Hotel, New York, was the one who discovered the steel guitar. While sitting with a Hawaiian guitar across his knees, a native dropped a steel knife across the strings. Its metallic ping was developed to the point where the steel guitar is now an essential instrument in every band.

Bob Ballantine, harmonica wizard heard on the "National Barn Dance" every bath night, is studying organ at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

WARS TO STOP WARS

SAYS Senator Norris of Nebraska, the only living United States Senator who voted against American entrance into the World War, and whose essential pacifism may be taken for granted:

"Although I could never favor voting to put this country to war again on a foreign field, yet 20 or 30 years from now, when a younger generation of Americans is fighting a world union of Fascist nations, resisting a Fascist wave of aggression against us, those Americans of that day may wish we had defeated Fascism in its infancy."

The danger foreseen by the senator seems so real that every believer in democracy must be concerned with ways to prevent it. There might be a powerful Fascist league making deliberate war on human freedom and our humane way of life, and it might be done in less time than twenty or thirty years.

But is military force the way for the free nations to defeat Fascism, now or at any other time? Probably not; for it was a virtual Fascism that the democratic powers, including America, fought in the last World War, and we see what came of that supposed victory. The absolutism of a Hitler or Mussolini or Stalin is worse than the Kaiser's.

To beat Fascism, the totalitarian nations must be persuaded that political freedom is the better way. They will be persuaded by evidence rather than by force. The best evidence is a demonstration of prosperity and contentment in the democratic nations. With the world as it is, we also need strong defense combined with a strong will to peace.

This is the course on which the chief democratic powers seem to have entered now.

PROLIFIC ERA

THE race-suicide prophecies we have heard for many years don't seem to have been justified. Definite statistics, brought up to date, are not at hand, and this is only a casual guess; but there's evidently life in the white race yet.

You can see evidence of it in the papers, and even hear it around the neighborhood, any time now. The latest eye-opener is the achievement of a Chicago woman, who has produced four children in ten months—one last September and three more just the other day.

This population wave apparently started with the birth of the Dionne quintuplets. Ever since, there has been a succession of twins and triplets, with occasional quadruplets. And as for single births, from cursory observation it seems as if the land is being deluged with 'em.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up reluctantly, being, still tired from the day before that had included a long auto jaunt home from a funeral over Indiana way. The brother-in-law had just passed fifty when death struck. As at all funerals I felt much sorrier for those left behind than the one gone on ahead. There sat his father of 80 years, a man who in his four score years had not lived as much as had his son in any ten years of his life. Neville Whicker came into being, worked hard and well and lived for his wife and church. His belief in reward after death was firm. Now, he has gone to what he was convinced is the perfect life. What is there to grieve about in that?

Cleared an accumulation of tasks at the plant and then hurriedly took off for Darbyville, arriving in time to see most of the fire that destroyed that village's hotel. There, as usual, was Ernie Hill, who has done more to control and conquer rural blazes than any other man I ever have known. Let fire start anywhere in these parts and Ernie is there in a hurry with his Williamsport fire department.

I wonder how many persons have seen all the citizens of a community working together with a will? That is a sight worth viewing. I saw it at Darbyville. When I arrived I would not have given a dollar's sale tax for the buildings on either side of the hotel. But those buildings were not damaged to any appreciable extent. My, what any community could accomplish if all citizens would work together like that most of the time.

JOHNSON FLIES TO ALASKA

WASHINGTON—Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson is on his way to Alaska, but the full significance of his trip is not generally known.

Flying in an amphibian plane from Seattle, with an assortment of maps and charts, he is making a preliminary survey of a highway through Canada to the Klondike.

The amazing feature of this project is that the United States would build and control a highway within the territory of Canada. The road would cost $12,000,000, and be built, paid for, and maintained by the United States.

Construction would be difficult as an engineering feat, but more difficult still as a diplomatic feat. Negotiations are now under way with Canada to obtain the right of way and the necessary guarantee of control.

The War Department is not interested in providing scenic beauty for tourists. Its motive is to strengthen the fortification of Alaska, thereby protect the continental United States from attack in the north Pacific. The generals want a highway over which they could send troops and military equipment in an emergency.

This is where the diplomatic difficulty comes in. Canada must guarantee that the road may be used in time of war, though a third country might regard such a concession by Canada as an unneutral act.

The idea is being sold to Canada with two strong arguments: she would get a $12,000,000 highway without cost, and she would get many times this amount in tourist business when this route is opened for automobile traffic.

If he can get the President's approval, Johnson will put a battalion of engineers to work immediately on a mile-by-mile survey of the route. The Twenty-ninth Battalion of Engineers is stationed in the Northwest, ready to do a quick job.

GERMAN CENSORSHIP

One of the odd facts about the dictatorships of Europe is that Germany and Italy are now getting news coverage about France from the United States.

German and Italian newspapers gave only a meagre coverage to the recent visit to Paris of King George and Queen Elizabeth. Reason was that they wanted to minimize the British-French entente and rivalry with Hitler's visit to Rome.

But the National Broadcasting Company, which devotes four and a half hours daily to foreign language broadcasts, sent this story by short wave in both German and Italian.

They gave news elements and editorial comments from leading U. S. dailies.

In Germany there is nothing to prevent the owner of a shortwave radio from hearing a foreign news broadcast. He can listen in his own home, with none present beyond his own family, but is disallowed by law from inviting friends to listen.

Following this broadcast, N. B. C. received many letters from the other side, expressing thanks for the news. In preparing their programs, N. B. C. collaborates with the State Department.

Have You Lumbago? Here Are Causes, Cure

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I HAVE been asked by a southern correspondent to discuss lumbago.

Lumbago derives its name from the lumbar muscles—those massive and powerful muscles in the back on either side of the spinal column. Strictly speaking it is a pain in these muscles, but the name is applied to any pain in the back.

So in a larger sense a discussion of lumbago would be a discussion of backache. Which is too big a subject for us to take up here.

It is important, though, to know whether you have simple lumbago or backache due to other causes. There are many structures close to the lumbar muscles, and your "lumbago" may be due to arthritis of the spine or other disease of the bones throughout, or to kidney disease or to spinal cord disturbance. Mr. Schmeling, at the date I am writing this, undoubtedly has a "lumbago" due to having come into violent contact with a swiftly moving body.

Most cases of lumbago, however, are simple and are due to changes in the lumbar muscles themselves. We say they are simple but that doesn't mean that lumbago doesn't hurt. On the contrary, it may be one of the most painful and annoying and crippling afflictions you can have. I have known cases to last for a year to 18 months.

Causes Listed

The causes are:
(1) Sprain—lifting or twisting, with the formation of little hemorrhages in the muscle, or tearing of small muscle fibers, or both.
(2) Cold—and especially a combination of cold and wet. Swimming in too cold water will do this. It is an ice man's disease, from carrying blocks of ice on the back.
(3) Infection lighting on these muscles from a faraway part of the body, as an infected or dead tooth or tonsil. This is the commonest cause.
In treatment, it is obvious from reading the list of causes that the paramount consideration is rest. Rest to allow the hemorrhages to be absorbed and rest to allow the torn muscles to heal, if injury or sprain is the cause. Rest to allow the inflammation to subside if infection is the cause.

Rest is especially important at first. Efforts to massage or rub out the pain during the first few days may prolong recovery indefinitely.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

nitely and add insult to injury.

After rest, heat. Any form of external heat. This gives relief from pain and also promotes healing. One of the best forms of heat is the hot domestic flat iron. The patient is laid face down. The skin is anointed with vaseline, then a flannel is laid down over it, and an iron as hot as can be stood moved up and down over the sore area. Later on rubbing, manipulation and massage are in order.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

F. J.: "Please tell in your column whether fish, ice cream sodas and home-made grape wine are calcium builders."

Answer: Fish and grape wine contain little calcium; ice cream (especially if made with milk) contains some. But calcium-containing foods have not been proved to cause kidney stone formation and it would hardly be possible, let alone desirable, to plan an entirely calcium-free diet.

CHAPTER 28

NOEL AND Chris danced, Chris explained to Noel that he had been trying to find her, for he had not suspected that Nick had been lying when he had told him that Noel was no longer at the Peacock. And then accidentally he had met Maida who told him that she was still here.

The good news Chris had was this: He was looking for a dancing partner. He already had a girl in mind, but the more he danced with Noel, the more he believed she was the one he should have.

So, that very night, his manager would be there and see Noel dance. And if he felt confident that Noel could make the grade, then the arrangement was a definite one. It would mean a big job and a big salary.

Noel was thrilled. What girl wouldn't be by such an amazing turn of fortune's wheel? That is, if it really came to anything. And Chris was confident it would. "Breton won't be able to resist you," he said. "I'm certain he won't."

It was impossible not to catch some of his enthusiasm. In her imagination Noel dipped into the future and saw a wonderful career for Chris and herself. It meant that success would be within her grasp. She would be able to make good her proud boast about being able to take care of herself and make her own living. She was grateful to Maida for telling Chris she was still here.

She almost forgot her fear of Luigi in her pleasure at Chris' news. But she was still careful not to dance with him too many times.

Promptly at 10, a tall, dignified man came in, who was recognizable at once as a being from another world.

The minute he appeared, Chris cut in again on Noel's partner. "He's here," he said excitedly. "Now don't make any effort. Just dance as you always have with me. He'll recognize you at once as a natural."

Noel forgot she was on trial. She had always loved dancing with Chris.

Just before they finished, Chris whispered, "He's impressed. He's never taken his eyes off of you for one single moment."

After their dance, Chris presented his manager to Noel, and she found her hand in his for a firm, friendly clasp. She was conscious as usual of Nick's watchful eyes, this time he even was showing signs of resentment instead of having an expressionless mask. But for one Noel was utterly indifferent to the way Nick looked. Nothing revolving around this hateful place could touch her much longer. Or so Noel confidently believed.

Carrey Breton smiled at Noel with frank admiration. "Chris is right, Miss Doran. You're a find. I'm almost ready to say you'll do for the other half of this team, but not quite ready—yet. Ever do any exhibition dancing?"

Noel had not. She had done a few solo dances at parties, and at Junior League musicals. Once she had danced as Carmen in a Spanish dance, very fast and furious. And once a slow and very graceful dance in the costume of a Greek maiden. She had to admit that her experience was limited.

Chris and Carrey Breton did not stay long. When they left, it was understood that Chris would bring Noel to Breton's uptown studio the next day at 11, at which time she would be given a real test, and all details would be talked over.

Noel tried to pull away from his grasp.

When they left, it was still two hours before closing time. Never had time seemed to pass so slowly. When she was ready to leave, would she tell Nick? She hadn't yet made up her mind. It seemed so very cowardly to just walk out, for Nick had been a friend—in a way.

It seemed strange, Noel thought, that things should begin breaking for her all at once. She had two jobs now. At least two good prospects. The position at the Garwoods didn't seem nearly so attractive now, since she had met Mr. Breton, and he had encouraged her so much about her dancing, although it wasn't money or fame she wanted. Simply the chance to make good her proud words to Julian.

At last it was time for the place to close. Noel had decided she wouldn't tell Nick. She would send him a note and explain that she had a better position, and that some day she was going to return the money to him, that she was considering it merely as a loan. That would be the better and easier way.

But when she came out of the dressing room with the "beanie" back over her curls, Nick was standing there. His pale eyes were more grim than ever, and he reached out and closed his fingers around her wrist. "Come upstairs with me a few minutes. I want to talk to you."

Noel tried to pull away from his grasp, but his fingers were like steel. "What do you want?" she exclaimed. "You can tell me here."

"I said come on upstairs," he repeated firmly.

"I'm not coming upstairs," Noel declared. "I'm going home."

Nick shrugged. He released her wrist, then said: "Do you happen to know a young doctor with an office in the Medical Arts building, whose patients don't always pay him?"

Noel drew a sharp breath. "Doctor Paige? Why—do you ask?" "I have something to tell you about him—something that has to do with his keeping in good health—if you know what I mean."

The tone of his voice brought a cold fear to Noel's heart, but she was determined not to let Nick see it. "Tell me what you mean, though I don't suppose you really know anything about Doctor Paige."

"You'll have to come upstairs first," Nick said.

After a minute's hesitation, Noel finally acquiesced. Nick led the way to the back of the building where there was an automatic elevator. They went up to the top floor. Nick inserted a key in a heavy bronze door and Noel found herself in a big living room luxuriously furnished and in exquisite harmony. There were soft velvet divans, little tables and chairs, flowers, handsome rugs. There was even a pipe organ. Who would have thought that Nick was musical?

"All right," Noel faced him resolutely. "What about Doctor Paige?"

"Sit down, sit down," Nick invited. "How about a drink?" He went into an adjoining room and returned with a decanter.

Noel took a seat. "I don't want anything to drink," she said.

Nick put the decanter on a table, sat down on a divan. "So you're going to leave me high and dry, are you?" he asked. Noel started. How on earth did Nick find out everything? She said calmly, "Yes, Nick. I have a better place."

"Does it pay $10 a night?" Noel flushed. "I intend to pay you back the money you let me have some day. I told you I didn't need it after my roommate recovered. And you know I haven't accepted it since."

"What about this other place?" Nick asked.

"It's just—more dignified. And I'm tired of dancing," she told him. She was wondering if he did have anything to tell her about Julian, or had that been merely a ruse to get her here? How did Nick know that the mention of Julian's name was the only thing that would have induced her to come? "What do you have to tell me about Julian Paige?" she questioned again.

Nick ignored her words. "So you're looking for dignity, are you? I knew you were like that the first moment I saw you. A girl with class. That's why I'm so crazy about you."

Noel looked at him with a frown. "I'm going now. You only said what you did about Doctor Paige to induce me to come up here. You haven't anything to tell me really."

"Haven't I?" Nick lifted his dark brows. "Well, listen to this: I'm going to marry you." His voice sounded patronizing as if he expected Noel to be overwhelmed at such an honor.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WHAT TO EXPECT

WHEN YOUR side has bid three trumps, the remaining one is almost sure to be led if you wind up playing a no-trump game contract. It is therefore incumbent upon you to be aware of that declaration unless you are prepared to care for whatever risks are involved in that lead. Usually this means one of two things—either a double stopper or a single sure stopper with enough set-up tricks to run your game before the other fellows can regain the lead.

North and South got along famously for the first two rounds of bidding on this deal, with 1-Diamond by South, 1-Heart by North, 1-Spade by South and then 2-Diamonds by North. Guessing that his diamond suit was probably solid, South then hopped into 2-No Trump. The logic was not far-reaching enough, as even with solid diamonds there would be not nine immediate tricks in sight unless

Today's Fashion

Lovely White Evening Frock

THERE MAY be a demand for this or that color during the season, but white is smartest for summer, especially with a tanned skin. Here is an exquisite evening frock in heavy white sheer. The draped sleeves, the raglan shoulder having shirred detail. It has the same detail in back. A wide, draped girdle fits up high under the bust, fastening in the middle of the front where two rows of shirring hold the gathers. The skirt is gracefully flared, falling in soft folds around the figure. It's good for both the young and the mature figure because of its soft detail and perfect cut.

FILL-IN HELPS BLUES IN DRIVE FOR A. A. TITLE

COLUMBUS, Aug. 3 — (UP) — Clyde McCullough, a rookie receiver who was secured merely to fill-in while the Kansas City Blues had their two regular catchers shelved by injuries, today had clinched a first string berth and his play threatened to make the Yankee-owned club again a factor in the American Association pennant chase.

McCullough hammered out two home runs last night to give Kansas City a 6 to 5 triumph over Milwaukee and permit the Blues to go into second place in the standing.

The youngster's second circuit drive came in the ninth inning to provide the winning margin.

Kansas City used three pitchers to grab the triumph with Frank Makosky receiving credit for it.

The Blues nicked George Blacholder and Ralph Winegarder for nine hits, with McCullough grabbing three of them. He had a single in addition to his two home runs.

St. Paul continued to set a sizzling pace by downing Minneapolis 4 to 2 in a contest that was out to eight innings to permit the Saints to catch a train.

Art Herring was in the box for St. Paul and permitted only eight hits as he won his 11th game of the season.

Columbus ran its winning streak to seven straight when it downed Toledo 8 to 5.

Indianapolis piled up an early lead and bested Louisville 7 to 2.

INDIAN PROBLEM HURLER HELPS, DEFEATING SOX

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3 — (UP) — Denny Galehouse, a big right-hander who has promised much and delivered little toward the Cleveland Indians hopes for the American league pennant, today finally came through in a "clutch".

With Johnny Allen unable to take his regular mound turn because of a sore arm, Galehouse was sent to the box in the opening game of the crucial series with the Boston Red Sox here yesterday.

An Ohio boy who appeared to have every requisite of a winning pitcher and yet couldn't deliver when the chips were down, Galehouse pushed aside the disappointing past and gave the Tribe a coveted 7 to 4 victory.

The triumph enabled Cleveland to gain one full game on the pace-setting New York Yankees who were toppled by Detroit. The Indians now trail by 1½ games.

Galehouse was off to a wobbly start and was nicked for three runs and eight hits in the first three innings. Thereafter he settled down and pitched superb ball the remainder of the way.

In the final six rounds the Red Sox were able to secure only four safeties. Their last run came in the ninth inning.

Manager Joe Cronin was forced to use three members of his short-handed mound corps against the Indians. Emerson Dickman, the rookie who blanked the Tribe with only three hits when he faced them a week ago at Boston, received the starting assignment, but was driven to cover in the fourth. Archie McKain and Jim Bagby shared the burden the remainder of the way.

BIG DERRINGER HELPS JOHNNY WIN ANOTHER

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3 — (UP) — The Cincinnati Reds thrust themselves back in the middle of the tight National League pennant picture here today and it was rookie Johnny Vander Meer who was responsible for the men of Manager Bill McKechnie again becoming a flag threat.

When Vander Meer went into a slump in the middle of July the Cincinnati title hopes skidded with him. The chunky southpaw gave indications of being on the road back to greatness however yesterday when he gained credit for the 3 to 2 triumph the Reds scored over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The victory was Vander Meer's 12th of the season and the first he had scored since July 10. By virtue of the win the Reds moved to within 2 1-2 games of the faltering second place New York Giants.

Vander Meer had to have the help of burly Paul Derringer to gain his win over the pesky Phils. The portlander went into the ninth with a 3 to 1 lead, but when Gil Brack singled and Morry Arnovich doubled to put the tying run on second base Derringer was sent to the hill.

Virgil Davis' single sent one run across, but Frank McCormick took a hopper off the bat of Pinch Hitter Chuck Klein to cut Arnovich down at the plate. Derringer then fanned "Cap" Clark and Baxter Jordan grounded out to end the contest.

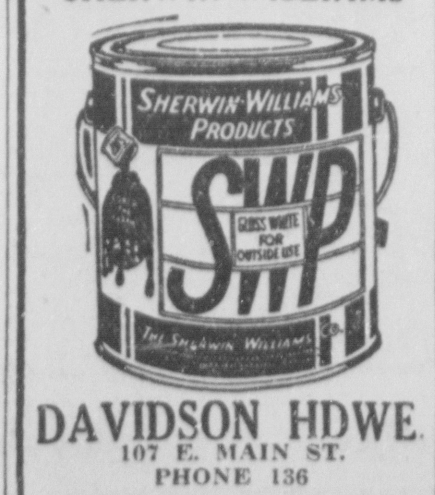

For seven innings Vander Meer was at his best. Over that stretch he gave up only four hits and did not allow a runner to reach second base. In the eighth he weakened slightly and was nicked for a run. When he opened wobbly in the ninth he was jerked.

BRYANT TOSSES CHICAGO TO 7-0 GIANT VICTORY

Speedball Hurler Proving One of Finest in Old League

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 — (UP) — Clay Bryant picked up a ball one day down in Birmingham, Ala., and a guy said to him: "You can really throw that apple."

Everybody kept saying the same thing to Bryant but he never could win ball games. Then he found the magic touch. Today he is one of the greatest right-handed pitchers in the National league.

With Gabby Hartnett coaxing him behind the plate, Bryant pitched the sweetest game of his major league career yesterday—a two-hit shutout over the New York Giants. He not only pitched the Cubs to a 7-0 victory but he beat king Carl Hubbell. The triumph narrowed the margin between the second place Giants and the third place Cubs to a game and a half.

Hubbell himself got the first hit in the sixth off Bryant, who throws one of the meanest fast balls in baseball. Mel Ott doubled in the seventh for the second and last hit off the tall, curly-haired Cub pitcher.

Pirates Lose Again

Pittsburgh lost its second straight game when Johnny Lanning of the Boston Bees held the National league leaders to four hits and enabled the Boston Bees to score a 3-1 victory. Rabbit Warstler's scratch single drove in the two runs necessary to win the game.

The Cincinnati Reds kept pace with the Cubs, who are only one game ahead of the Rhinelanders, by defeating the Phillies, 3-2. Johnny Vander Meer scored his 12th triumph although relieved by Paul Derringer in a ninth inning jam. Vander Meer gave up eight hits during his stay on the mound.

Using a yellow baseball stitched with red, the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-2, in the first game of a double header. The fans and Dodgers thought the ball was easier to follow. The Cards didn't like it, they lost. In the second game using a regulation baseball the Dodgers again won, 9-3. The twin triumph enabled the Dodgers to climb into fifth place, one percentage point ahead of the Bees. Dolf Camilli hit two homers for the Dodgers in the nightcap.

The New York Yankees had their American league cut to a game and half when they lost to the Detroit Tigers, 4-3. The Tigers got all their runs off Lefty Gomez, including Charley Gehring's home run. Rookie George Gill held the Yanks to eight hits, winning Detroit's ninth game in 10 starts.

Cleveland Wins

Cleveland picked up a "whole game" on the Yanks by trimming the Boston Red Sox, 7-4. A homer by Ken Keltner and doubles by Bruce Campbell, one of the greatest money players on the Indians, and Bud News Hale and Jeff Heath were the deciding punches.

Washington beat the St. Louis Browns, 5-3, and the Chicago White Sox won from the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-4, in the other two American league games. Gabby Street, Browns manager, protested Washington's victory because of a collision between Umpire Harry Geisel and Billy Sullivan, racing for home on a close play.

BILL TERRY SUSPENDS CLIFF MELTON, PITCHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 — (UP) — Cliff Melton, Giant southpaw hurler, was under indefinite suspension today. New York Manager Bill Terry refused to reveal the reason, describing it as "club business". It came as a surprise since Melton had won nine games this year. He won 20 last year in his first season in the majors.

FORMER HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC COACH TO JOIN COLUMBUS EAST FACULTY

JACK LANDRUM TO TEACH AND AID WEBSTER

Football Line and Track Team to be in Charge Of Capital Grad

BOARD HIRES JANITOR

Barricklow to Return to Civilian Conservation Corps Work

Jack F. Landrum, Circleville high school athletic coach for the last three years who resigned with intentions of entering professional Boy Scout work, today had been hired by the Columbus city board of education as a full time teacher and coach. Announcement of Landrum's election was made Wednesday after a board meeting Tuesday evening.

Landrum, a Culver and Capital university graduate, resigned his coaching job in Circleville at the end of the last school term.

Columbus school officials said he would be assigned to East high school as a teacher and assistant athletic coach. He will coach the East high school nine in football and be in charge of the school's track and field activities. Ralph Webster, former Big Ten athlete, is head coach at East, which is rated as one of the strongest schools in the capital city in athletics.

Landrum will teach science in the high school, too.

Ronald Nau Named Corwin Janitor

Ronald E. "Sam" Nau, 960 S. Pickaway street, was employed by the Circleville board of education Tuesday evening as Corwin street janitor to succeed John Maiden, who retires on September 1. Mr. Nau was selected from 21 applicants for the post.

Mr. Nau has been employed by the Blue Ribbon Dairy. He is married and has one child.

The board did not elect a successor to John D. Barricklow, who resigned Saturday as a teacher of social science and commercial subjects. The board may meet next week to hire a teacher.

Supt. Frank Fischer received a letter from Barricklow, Tuesday, declaring that he intended to re-enter Civilian Conservation Corps work in which he was engaged before he came to Circleville. He will be in charge of a new camp at Versailles, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Barricklow and family have been passing the Summer in Indiana.

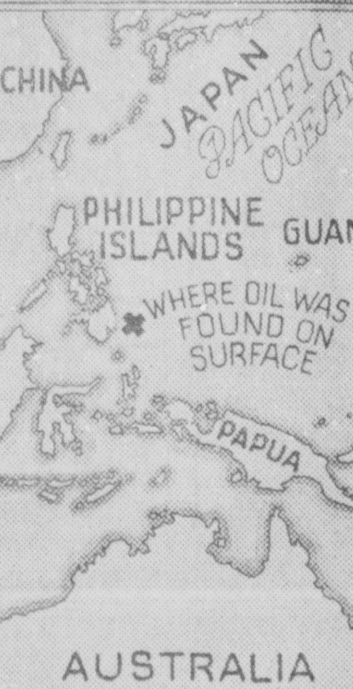

COUNTY RELIEF LOAD IN JULY ABOUT NORMAL

Pickaway county relief expenditures for July amounted to $2,562, about the same as the average of funds spent in the last four months. The relief load for July included 155 families averaging four persons each.

Expenditures include funds spent for work relief, direct relief, hospitalization, sewing materials, recreation and administration.

D. H. Marcy, county relief director, said that there has been considerable misunderstanding between direct relief and surplus commodities. Commodities are given in addition to county relief, township relief, city relief, aid to dependent children, soldiers' relief, blind and old-age pensions when

SECOND LONDON FUGITIVE HELD

Dayton Man Picked Up in Columbus After Gaining Release From Jail

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Two of the six convicts who escaped from the London prison farm last Friday were back in prison uniforms today.

Stewart Bennedum, 38, sentenced from Dayton in 1935 for burglary, was captured by police at Columbus last night. Sheldon Waits, 35, was captured at South Charleston last Saturday.

Ironically, Bennedum said he had been held in the Madison county jail here for three days since his escape. He was released Monday when authorities failed to identify him by his fingerprints.

A woman called police at Columbus and told them a suspicious man was loitering near her home. Four patrolmen picked up Bennedum.

Bennedum told police he took no part in planning the escape or in slugging Guard William J. Madden. He was quoted as saying that "when you have as many years as I have to serve, you'll try anything once."

Bennedum said he hid in a barn near here until Friday night. He was picked up by sheriff's deputies while walking along a road. After he was released from jail, where he was booked as Dayton Cunningham of Dayton, he hitchhiked to Columbus to try to contact friends.

The sheriff's office said Bennedum was taken into custody on Route 40 near West Jefferson after the escape but that the state bureau of criminal identification at the prison farm had failed to identify his fingerprints. The fingerprints were said to have been checked by a prisoner assigned to the bureau.

A. A. A. CHECKING CORN ACREAGE FOR COMPLIANCE

Kruse Says That Reports From Half of State Show Splendid Cooperation

ALL FARMS VISITED

Allotments for Wheat Area Under 1939 Plan Being Prepared Now

COLUMBUS, Aug. 3.—(UP)—With about one-half of the state's corn acreage checked by AAA field agents, "all indications" point to a "satisfactory" compliance with the 1938 federal crop control program in Ohio, State AAA Director Elmer F. Kruse said today.

Adherence by Ohio farmers to the new farm program has been even better than expected at the beginning of the year by AAA officials, Kruse said.

The field agents will require about four more weeks to visit farms throughout the state and determine if the operators have confined their plantings within allotments set last Spring, thereby establishing eligibility for AAA compliance payments this Fall.

Those Opposed Comply

In one county which he studied against the control program last Spring have complied with the acreage reductions.

Meanwhile, first checks in the government's cash loan plan on stored wheat from the 1938 crop will probably reach the state next week, Kruse said.

Kruse said he believed that announcement of 70-cent per bushel wheat loans in Ohio had served to "steady" market prices which, however, have fallen to 61 cents. He added the quotations undoubtedly would have dipped lower except for the loan program. He said the AAA "have no desire to peg the price at 70 cents but is interested only in orderly marketing which prevents dumping on the market at low prices."

Farmers desiring loans can obtain them almost immediately when they store their wheat in government-bonded warehouses. Grain sealed in bins on the farm must be held for 30 days after threshing before loans will be given.

Allotments Ready

Acreage allocations for individual wheat farmers under the 1939 control plan will be mailed out before Aug. 15 with most of the northern Ohio farmers receiving allocations this week. Kruse said farmers can appeal their reductions within 15 days to the county committee and take a further appeal to the state committee within a second 15-day period.

Ohio's 1939 wheat allotment has been fixed at 1,647,000 acres by the AAA compared with 1,870,000 acres for 1938.

Jap Planes Hurl Bombs On Hankow; Drive Forms

SHANGHAI, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Japanese planes bombed Hankow heavily today in preparation for the assault on the provisional capital. Eighteen bombers and 10 pursuit ships appeared over the Hankow airfield. Their bombs ploughed up the ground enough to make it impossible for Chinese planes to take off or land and wrecked many hangars. The raiders circled and dropped 40 more bombs, but these appeared to have landed in a thickly-populated residential area.

The planes then bombed the railroad approaches and warehouses and factories in the north part of the city. They also dumped bombs on defense positions along the dykes of the swollen Han river.

Reliable reports to Shanghai said other Japanese planes bombed a Chinese customs cruiser on the Yangtse 30 miles East of Hankow, killing J. T. C. Crawley, a British customs harbor officer, and injuring several others.

Legislation for purchasing materials to resurface streets being repaired under W. P. A. will be considered, Mr. Leist said.

Ohio farmers have applied for 12,000 policies at an average administrative cost of $2.46 per policy to lead all other states under the insurance program, Elmer F. Kruse, state A.A.A. director, announced Wednesday.

The Ohio allocations constituted 75 percent of the national total, Kruse said. The government will pay the administrative or sales cost of the insurance plan for the first two years of the new venture.
